

SERVANT LEADERSHIP: PUTTING OTHERS FIRST

Presented by F. Stuart Gulley, President of Woodward Academy, June 11, 2020 for the BCN CEO Roundtable Keynote

5 Key Takeaways

“A servant leader is one who identifies & meets the legitimate needs (as opposed to wants) of those entrusted to their care and has developed the skills of influencing people to enthusiastically contribute their hearts, minds, and other resources toward goals identified as being for the common good.” -J.D. Hunter

To be a servant requires deliberate action.

“The least important word in the English language is “I.” -Robert W. Woodruff

“The main job of the leader is to define reality.

The last job is to say 'thank you.' In between, the leader is a servant.”
-Max DePree

“Leadership is character in action.”

-Warren Bennis
