Experience Nakato, Atlanta's most authentic Japanese Restaurant.

In 1972, at the tender age of 63, "Grandma" Tetsuko Nakato, together with her youngest son, Kenzo and daughter, Hiroe, established Nakato Japanese Restaurant in Atlanta.

Nakato Japanese Restaurant, owned and operated by the family's third generation, continues to maintain the custom of providing exceptional hospitality in an authentic Japanese setting. It has become the most established Japanese restaurant in Atlanta, serving traditional cuisine as well as offering a full sushi bar; and the popular teppanyaki "hibachi" dining. The Nakato family is inspired to maintain Grandma Nakato's legacy of inviting guests to experience all aspects of Japanese culture and dining.
